In this article, we'll learn how to create a simple Photoshop project, from start to finish. We'll be going through a solid foundation with Photoshop basics that can be used to create anything your wildest imagination can come up with. We'll start off by building a layer mask to hide things on our canvas, followed by an animated gif layer for eye candy in our design. In between the two layers, we'll add a series of filters, blend modes, and adjustments in order to give our base image a fun and exciting, more modern look. Be sure to check out our recently updated Photoshop skills profile in the article Photoshop: Beginner. You'll find links to the free training courses and other resources we recommend. Let's get started! Creating a Simple Photoshop Project Step 1: Create a New, Blank Photoshop Project In the image above, we see the interface for the Photoshop interface window. This window is the canvas for our project. It's where we'll be creating all of our images, and it's also where we'll add all of the layers that make up our design. You can see the image we'll be working with in the palette above the canvas. We're working in the Rectangular Image area, which is the first tab. We will create a new file from the New Files or Open dialog box, which we can access via File | New. In the resulting dialog box (see image above right), choose one of the Photoshop file types from the bottom left hand corner of the dialog box. For this tutorial, we've chosen PSD, which stands for Photoshop Document. After choosing the file type we wish to use, we can now press the OK button to add our file to the Photoshop interface window. At this point, we've got a new file in the Photoshop interface window. We can see a blank canvas and have access to our layer palettes and other tools, which we'll come to talk about in the following steps. Step 2: Create a New Layer Mask and Save Our Project In order to properly work with our project, we need to add a layer mask to the image. The layer mask is a special overlay layer that helps us hide and reveal the layers below it. To add a new layer mask to our canvas, we can either click the New Layer Mask icon in the Layer Palette
