Serendipity Hotel is a game about change. Change the lives of your colonists -- your guests. Change the environment around them -- their surroundings. Some changes are positive, some are negative. Some changes are permanent, others are temporary. Some changes are serendipitous. Others, not so much. It's a game about making changes that make a difference in the world - but it's also a game about making changes that will change you. Each year, the workers of the Serendipity Hotel face a new challenge. The hotel is overcrowded, the rates are too high, and every day, more guests arrive eager to pay their bills. As manager of the Serendipity Hotel, you must plan for the future. You can improve the facilities, increase the staff, and find ways to increase your profits. And, if you succeed, your employees will prosper. But if you fail, they may leave or your business could fail. With a maximum of 10 colonists, your job will be one of making sure everyone succeeds. Everything you do will help your colonists - make sure their work is safe and productive, cut down on sick days and work-related injuries. Build rooms and houses, encounter the hazards of life on the surface of a foreign planet and take advantage of their alien life forms. Let them play games, watch movies, read, socialize, eat, sleep. All of these activities provide the colonists with their daily entertainment and stress relief. For the sake of your guest's lives, you must plan long-term. A daily forecast and a weekly forecast will help you to make progress towards your goal of increasing occupancy rates to support your business. You can hope for the best, prepare for the worst - with the best decision-making tools your guests will find any challenges to be overcome. They will be surprised at how much they can do and how much fun life can be. How To Play: 1. Click the top-right red X on the tutorial screen. 2. Start a new game on Mercury. 3. Select a difficulty level (Easy, Medium, Hard) and then a mission. 4. Login using Steam. A: Mercury Fallen is a top down colony management game (and roguelike) that takes place on a randomly generated planet. The aim is to build a self sustaining facility with a population of colonists. You can build houses, add rooms and populate them with colonists.

Smelter is a cel-shaded top-down action game set in a steampunk world. How will you use your wits and your steam-powered companions to master the smelting process? PRIMARY FEATURES: Free movement: You can freely move your character around to dodge enemy attacks and find the best path to reach your objectives. Smart gameplay: Smooth gameplay combined with strategic decisions to determine your future course of action. Easy to play but difficult to master: Tactically challenging but rewarding gameplay that may challenge you to learn new tricks. FIVE GAME MODES: HEX - In this mode, you face multiple opponents at once in a team-based match. CLASSIC - In this mode, you play as a single, isolated character. EXPLORATION - In this mode, you solve puzzles to progress. MAP - In this mode, you manipulate the various parts of the map to reach your goal. TIME TRAVEL - In this mode, you travel back in time to find the better path. OVER A THOUSAND LEVELS: No two playthroughs are exactly the same, as randomly-generated elements determine what lies ahead of you in each level. EXPERTLY DESIGNED LEVEL SYSTEM: You'll face seemingly simple challenges as you advance through the 20 stages of gameplay. NO PAYDAYS NEEDED: You don't need to collect paydays, earn credits or upgrade weapons. A THOUSAND DIFFERENT NINJAS: Each ninja has their own unique skills and abilities that you can master. EXTRANET DISCUSSION: Read about our development process in the forums: About the Developer: Bit Blot (- Founded in March of 2010 as a small studio of game developers, Bit Blot has been cultivating original titles for personal computer platforms for almost half a decade. Our first game was Eco Raiders, an environmentally conscious action platformer released on Windows and Mac in 2012. We've gone on to develop pausable combat action games for Windows and Mac platforms; inspired by classic NES games but with a modern flair. We're extremely thankful for all the support and love that our fan base has given us over the years. Thanks for everything! Our next major project, Smelter, is an action strategy hybrid c9d1549cdd

Stephenson Archibald Stephenson (1 February 1807 - 10 May 1875) was an Anglican Bishop of Quebec. Biography Stephenson was born in Newark-on-Trent on 1 February 1807, the second son of William and Sarah (née Hope) Stephenson, and the younger brother of Sir William Hope Stephenson and Sir Charles Hope Stephenson, 1st Baronet. He was educated at Harrow School and then at King's College, Cambridge, where he graduated Master of Arts in 1829. In 1832, at the age of 24, he was ordained. He became curate of St. George's, Gravesend, and from 1834 he was headmaster of the High School (Durham) from 1834 to 1842. He travelled to Canada in 1842 and he became rector of Presque Isle on 11 May 1843. He held this position until his appointment to the episcopal see of Montreal in 1866. (His older brother Charles Hope was Bishop of Sodor and Man 1855-1862.) He was a central figure of the church and an active member of the Royal and Pontifical Equestrian Academy in Rome and a member of the British School at Rome, retiring as a fellow in 1866. He was appointed headmaster of Queen's College at Kingston and ordained priest on 17 November 1843. He became a prebendary of Montreal in 1844 and was awarded a Doctorate of Divinity on 23 May 1846. In 1855 he was made rector of Bedford, Buckinghamshire. He returned to Canada to become Bishop of Quebec on 18 June 1866. Stephenson died at Quebec City on 10 May 1875. He married Edith Anne Selwyn (1819-1906) in 1853. He had three daughters: Isabella, Edith (1855), and Edith (1857). STARPACT Monsters™ is a fast-paced tabletop roleplaying game in which players take on the role of a team of supernaturals - collectively known as a team or troupe - who must battle monsters and perform other, perhaps devious, tasks for their peers. Players roll natural 20's or use their brains and skills to overcome challenges and win the day! Key Features: Modular Game System - Put in one part of the system and get a unique game experience. Want to run a Dark Ages game? Put in the Dark Ages one of our FATE games, the Chaos or Underworld World settings, and then any of our monsters or characters available from any module. Once you have your core system, you can then take the same core system and put in the same event, background, or campaign setting and experience a totally unique game. Player-Driven Universe - With STARPACT Monsters™, you don't have to rely on DM input to help determine what kind of game you're playing - every aspect of the game is driven by the players. You can decide, as a player, what powers you have, which kinds of missions you want to accept, how your character interacts with others, and the dangers they may face, too. The campaign world is almost infinite in possibilities, and once you've been introduced to what's there, you can create your own unique stories and adventures for players to experience. Monsters - All the monsters you'll ever need. From eldritch demons, to elemental spirits, and monstrous abominations, they're all here. Use any of them as PCs, NPCs, mooks or bosses to spice up your game. Tokens - Put the tokens to good use. Toss out any token you don't need and use the rest in your game. They're shaped like neon signs, or glow in the dark, or are made of metal. You get the idea. Packs - This is the fun part. Just say "get a pack" and they'll appear, almost magically, in your inbox. Get the "party" pack or the "troupe" pack or the "faction" pack or the "event" pack or whatever. You'll find it has the most essential STARPACT Monsters™ character and monster types. And there's no better way to expand the game system than with new characters and monsters. And More - Roleplay heavy duty. These contents are not only useful for STARPACT Monsters™ but they're useful
