Again, if you try to install the OS X 10.7 Lion GM update on your Mac, your computer will not be able to boot the OS. The message can be found in the Apple Support Communities forum. More Apple news: AngularJS 1.6 file upload issue I am having a problem uploading the file from my angular app to .NET Core API using the sample given here: I have the correct solutions for client side but not for server side. The API shown does not offer any way to upload the file and I did see but my best guess was to generate the token on the server side using the Windows account, but I am not sure if this works for file uploads, because I did not find any examples for it. Is there any way for this to be accomplished? This was my js file import angular from 'angular'; const app = angular.module('starter.controllers', []); app.controller('UploadCtrl', function ($scope, $http) { $scope.uploadFile = function () { var file = $scope.file; var fileName = file.originalname; var fd = new FormData(); fd.append('photo', file); var token = $window.localStorage.getItem('userToken'); fd.append('authorization', token); $http.post('/upload', fd).then(function (response) { // Success $scope.newFileName = fileName + '_' + response.data.id + '.' + response.data.extension;
